

Tech Training FAQs

"Why should I attend this tech training when other manufacturers offer their own?"

Special pricing discounts are offered to VGM and U.S. Rehab members only if you attend and successfully pass U.S. Rehab's Tech Training.

We offer advanced content that cannot be found in any other Tech Training Seminar. The content has been organized to allow for the manufacturers to expand on higher-level material.

Your tech will get product-specific information on six different manufacturers in three days.

We offer a beginner level for those with less than two years of experience in the industry.

Your tech will get a PWC-specific review of basic electronics and components not offered anywhere else

"I've gone to previous U.S. Rehab Tech Trainings. Should I attend this one?"

Yes! If you are a technician, you should attend in order to:

Learn the essentials of running the service department as a business and why everyone must be involved.

Gain information from a clinician perspective in order to better understand what the tech should be aware of and to recognize potential seating and postural issues.

Expand emphasis on learning the "tricks of the trade" to more quickly and accurately troubleshoot complex systems.

Coordinate agenda to minimize redundancy.
